Leidos

Leidos is a Fortune 500® information technology, engineering, and science solutions and services leader. In the UK, Leidos has more than 1,200 employees servicing clients such as the Home Office, Scottish Government, The Ministry of Defence and other government departments.

In Scotland we are one of the largest technology companies with more than 300 employees providing innovative technologies, advanced solutions, and world-class services to customers in devolved and central government. We invest in our Scottish based workforce to ensure we have the necessary skills to partners with our clients' needs. We work in partnership with Glasgow, Strathclyde and Napier universities on their Graduate Apprenticeship schemes focusing on software engineering, business management and cyber security.
